Winning Wine commentary from the judges of the 2022 Pacific Rim Wine Competition:

“Savory, authentic, dry, fine, and balanced, good food wine. Great wines are coming from all over the Estates.” – Wilfred Wong – Buyer – Wine.com

“The nose is incredibly effusive, very floral on the approach. The palate is fruity yet bone dry. It has a long, elegant, yet gentle finish” – Jane Hallahan-Valentin – Winemaker

“As a fan of Albariño, I can tell you that McPherson did a nice job on this wine! It had a nice body to it! Albariño in the last 5-10 years have come into their own as people have begun to choose it instead of Sauvignon Blanc. If you want anything like oysters, this is your wine! Green apple, pear, and melon notes” Charles Mara – Winemaker – Mara Wines

“Love the freshness of this wine...lots of citrusy notes. Well balanced with a nice crispness and finishes softly. Lovely wine!” – Chris Braun – Importer - Adventure

“Bright, nectarine notes, dry, very fresh, sleek finish” – Veronica Castro – Wine Buyer – Hi-Time Cellars
